INSTRUCTIONS:

- In terms of Section 51 of the Promotion of Access to Information Act (Act 2 of 2000) all private bodies (i.e. any natural or juristic person who carries on any trade, business or profession) must compile a manual conforming to the prescribed requirements
- Utilise this template document as an example to compile the FSP's Section 51 Access to Information Manual
- A designated Key Individual must acknowledge the FSP's ownership of this manual, by completing the FSP's name on the first page, and signing the manual
- Complete the FSP's head office contact details within the text fields indicated below
- Appoint an information officer, and complete the individual's contact details within the fields indicated below. Any individual may act and function as the FSP's information officer. The information officer will inter alia be responsible to assess and facilitate requests for information and to liaise with any person requesting access to private information
- Add or delete the type of records held by the FSP as indicated within Annexure A (i.e. only list relevant records of information)
- Indicate records which are freely available without having to submit a formal request to access information in terms of the Act within Annexure B (if any)
- Add legislation which may be applicable to the FSP and/or delete legislation which is not applicable to the FSP listed below
- E-mail a copy of your completed manual to paia@sahrc.org.za. Alternatively, post a copy of your completed manual to the Research and Documentation Department, SAHRC, Private Bag 2700, Houghton, 2041
- Retain a hardcopy of your completed manual on the FSP's compliance file and upload the manual to the FSP's website (if the FSP has a website, the document must be uploaded to the website)
- The manual must be accessible for public inspection purposes

- A person who wishes to access information held by the FSP may do so by completing Annexure C
- Refer back to the manual whenever a person requests access to private information
- This manual must be read and understood in conjunction with the Promotion of Access to Information Act
- This manual must be reviewed annually and updated if and when required
- Delete this instruction page prior to implementing the manual

1INTRODUCTION

The Promotion of Access to Information Act, 2000, PAIA gives effect to section 32 of the Constitution, which provides that everyone has the right to access information held by the State, as well as information held by another person (or private body) when such privately held information is required to exercise a right or to protect a right.

PAIA, provides that a person requesting information must be given access to any record of a private body, if that record is required for the exercise or the protection of a right. However, such request has to comply with the procedural requirements laid down by the Act.

This manual is compiled in accordance with Section 51 of PAIA and contains the following provisions:

- the FSP's postal address, street address, phone and fax number and e-mail address.
- a short description of the guidance document on the application of the Promotion of Information Act and the process to be followed in order to obtain a copy of this guide (compiled by the Human Rights Commission in terms of section 10 of the Act).
- the process to be followed in order to access information held by the FSP. See Annexure C.
- a description of the typology of records held by the FSP (i.e. various information subjects held on each category type). See Annexure A.
- a description of records which are freely available without having to submit a formal request to access information in terms of the Act. See Annexure B.
- a description of the FSP's information which are available in accordance with any other legislation.
